NEW FROM Paramount+

Billy Bob Thornton plays with fire as the brilliant Texan oil drama returns

NEW DRAMA

Landman

From Sunday 16 November, Paramount+ (released weekly)

Yellowstone* creator Taylor Sheridan struck gold with the first season of hit drama Landman, set in the ruthless world of the Texan oil industry and featuring an all-star cast led by Billy Bob Thornton as fixer Tommy Norris.

As the show returns this week with a new 10-part run on Paramount+, hard-bitten landman Tommy is faced with a fresh seam of unpredictable challenges. Picking up after the death of his M-Tex Oil boss Monty Miller (played by Jon Hamm), Tommy now finds himself running the company alongside Monty's widow, Cami.

'Tommy goes from having one job that's really difficult and a job that's very dangerous to having two,' says Thornton. 'Now he's an executive, a landman and a family man in the midst of this tornado.'

Tommy is also between a rock and a hard place after powerful cartel kingpin Galino saved his life when he was kidnapped and tortured by a local gang – then proposed they partner up to tap into the region's multibillion-dollar oil industry.

The new run sees an expanded role for Hollywood A-listers Demi Moore and Andy Garcia as the widowed Cami and crime boss Galino.

'Both of them figure much more into the story. I've known Andy and Demi for years, so we now have three veterans together in this weird little triangle,' smiles Thornton. 'We explore the position that Tommy is in with Galino. He isn't dealing with henchmen any more. Now, he's got a smart guy on the opposite side of the law who is his equal. We're in a chess match.'

Andy Garcia and Demi Moore as Galino and Cami

LEARNING CURVE

Pressure mounts when an inexperienced Cami decides to take a massive gamble with the business, despite Tommy advising otherwise. There are also some explosive revelations to come as Cami uncovers why her late spouse ended up in an early grave.

'At first, Cami is like a lamb thrown into a lion's den,' says Moore. 'It's a crash course in trying to understand the business while privately grappling with the loss of the love of her life. Tommy really is her guide and anchor.'

'I don't think Tommy wants to be in that position,' adds Thornton. 'But he knows he has to be, and he's probably the right guy to do it.'

This series also digs deeper into Tommy's son Cooper's plans to strike out on his own while navigating his contentious relationship with young widow Ariana (Paulina Chávez).

'We left Cooper in Season 1 trying to scrounge up leases and get his oil company off the ground. This time, he's still working on that same plan. He's a little further on, but you'll see that he didn't understand what he was doing,' explains Jacob Lofland, who plays him. 'He has a great idea but doesn't know how to execute it.'

The worrying question for his father is, how is the university dropout funding this enterprise?

'I can't give out too much but I will say that all the questions viewers have will come into play, and we will answer quite a few of them,' says Lofland. 'There are things Cooper didn't think of and he's going to need some help. Tommy's got to be rough on him, because this business isn't easy and he's never going to get anything handed to him.'

Newcomers to the cast include Guy Burnet, as oil-and-gas engineer Charlie Newsom, Miriam Silverman as university-admissions officer Greta Stidham, and Stefania Spampinato as Galino's wife.

Meanwhile, Tommy's daughter Ainsley (Michelle Randolph) is preparing to fly the nest, while his other half Angela (Ali Larter) does her utmost to hold the clan together with her famous family dinners. And this time, there's an extra seat at the table as veteran actor Sam Elliott – who starred in Sheridan's Yellowstone prequel 1883 – makes his debut as Tommy's enigmatic father.

FAMILY MATTERS

'Those dinner scenes are my favourite days to film, because we're all together and it feels like our own little family,' says Randolph. 'I was so excited when I heard Sam was going to be in the show. I am such a fan of 1883 and couldn't believe I was going to share scenes with him as my grandfather.'

'Sam is such a cool dude,' agrees Lofland, who's remaining tight-lipped about the character's place in proceedings. 'When he comes on screen, he owns it. I can't wait for everyone to meet him.'

NEW DRAMA

The Death of Bunny Munro

Thursday, 9pm, Sky Atlantic (box set, Sky Box Sets & NOW)

Matt Smith heads across the south of England on a raunchy road trip in The Death of Bunny Munro, a racy six-part Sky Atlantic drama based on the 2009 novel by rock icon Nick Cave.

The former Doctor Who star plays Bunny, a door-to-door beauty-product salesman and enthusiastic Lothario whose life is turned upside down following the death of his wife Libby (Sarah Greene) by suicide.

Left to look after his young son, Bunny Junior, the debauched dad sets off on increasingly out-of-control journey, bouncing from one sales pitch to the next, while trying to seduce any woman he meets.

'When I first heard about the project, I couldn't believe it,' says Smith. 'I looked at my emails and saw one asking me if I'd like to have breakfast with Nick Cave. I was like, "You bet I would!" We had boiled eggs and soldiers and then I read the script. I thought it was amazing.'

FLEEING THE SCENE

In this week's opening episode, Bunny hosts a raucous wake for his wife, and when social services pay him a visit the next morning, they are shocked by the conditions his son is living in.

With unconscious, naked revellers and drug paraphernalia from the night before strewn across his Brighton flat, Bunny realises the nine year old is about to be taken into care and flees with him.

'Bunny is in a tornado of grief and there's a deep sadness in him,' says Smith. 'But he's doing his best and I think there's a light in him. If he'd just made a few different choices, he would have been a good dad. There's a great tragedy to the story.'

The salesman suspects his mother-in-law, Doris (Lindsay Duncan), who despises him and holds him responsible for the death of her daughter, was the person who called social services. And after going on the run, he calls his boss Geoffrey (Robert Glenister), the owner of beauty-products firm Eternity Enterprises, for a list of clients he can visit to make money and satisfy his lustful appetite.

As the trip continues, Bunny begins to reflect on his own childhood and the way his father (David Threlfall) – also called Bunny – raised him and how that shaped his life. Meanwhile, an increasingly lonely Bunny Junior begins talking to the ghost of his mother as the truth about his own dad slowly dawns on him.

DOUBLE LIFE

Because the script is peppered with swear words, the producers had to shield young actor Rafael Mathé, who plays Bunny Junior, from the coarser elements of the story.

'Young Rafael was brilliant as Bunny Junior,' says Smith of his co-star. 'There are some scenes where it's just the two of us and essentially we had to use two different scripts and takes. I would swear on my take [without Rafael] and then on his take I would have to say "flip" instead!'

SOWING THE SEEDS

Australian musician and writer Nick Cave, who's achieved great success with his band The Bad Seeds, first wrote the story of Bunny Munro as a film script, before turning it into a novel, which was published in 2009.

'I wrote it on the bus while I was on tour with the band, so a lot of dialogue comes from being on a bus with eight men,' he reveals. 'People originally tried to make it into a movie, and no one could. Maybe because no one was mad enough to play the central character!'

Cave was delighted when Matt Smith agreed to portray the troubled salesman and also put together the musical score for the six-part series with Warren Ellis.

'We knew that the score would be really important,' explains Cave. 'There's a lot of messed-up stuff happening and the story gets darker and darker as it goes along, but we've used some upbeat indie songs to hopefully buoy the whole thing up.'

Unlucky numbers

Paul Copley and Sue Johnston play lottery winners whose marriage falls apart

DRAMA

Play for Today

Thursday, 9pm, 5

A long-married couple's lives implode after they land the lottery jackpot in one-off drama Big Winners.

The latest instalment in 5's Play for Today anthology sees Sue Johnston and Paul Copley play Edith and Arthur Thistle, who are stunned when their numbers come up and they win £14 million.

Arthur is soon planning how they can enjoy the money, but for Edith, the windfall causes her to take a stark look at her life and their 53-year relationship. And as she also watches young mum Jade (Alexa Davies) and her daughter gamely embrace a new start when they move in across the road, she tells Arthur that she wants a divorce.

'Edith has led a dull life – it's like she has given up. And it takes something big for her to face what she has become and to want to change it,' reveals The Royle Family's Johnston, 81.

'The lottery win is a rude awakening – it opens her mind to what could have been, and maybe what tomorrow should bring. Edith's anger comes out, plus all the things that she has never talked about because Arthur didn't want to.'

CHALLENGING ROLE

While Arthur is left reeling and tries to convince Edith to stay, the bombshell leads them to share some home truths about their marriage and a tragic, long-held secret.

'Arthur loves Edith and is shocked when she asks for a divorce,' explains Copley, 80, who has previously co-starred with Johnston in Downton Abbey. 'But he's taken his wife for granted and has shut out this elephant in the room, this terrible thing, which he blames himself for but can't confront.'

For both actors, being part of Play for Today's revival has proved to be a rewarding challenge.

'It's wonderful because I'm old enough to have been in several episodes of the original [BBC1] series,' says Copley. 'They were all politically or socially relevant pieces about greed or relationships and these new dramas still deal with subjects in depth and hit hard.'

An offensive video has life-changing consequences for two wealthy families

NEW DRAMA

Wild Cherry

Saturday, 9pm & 9.55pm, BBC1 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

Dark revelations and the fallout from a devastating scandal bring upheaval for two mothers living on an exclusive estate in BBC1 drama Wild Cherry.

The six-part series is created and written by Nicôle Lecky and is set in the fictional enclave of Richford Lake, where author and influencer Juliet Lonsdale (Eve Best), who comes from a wealthy background, and her friend, self-made businesswoman Lorna Gibbons (Carmen Ejogo), enjoy seemingly idyllic lives with their families.

Juliet's confident daughter Allegra (Amelia May) and Lorna's smart child Grace (Imogen Faires) are also best pals, but trouble brews at the teenagers' private school when the pair of them are accused of making an inappropriate video.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN

'I wanted to set a show in a gated community because there was a place in Surrey that I would drive through and I'd think about who'd live in those houses,' says Mood and Sweetpea star Lecky, 35, who appears in the drama as US life coach Gigi, a newcomer to the estate who grows close to Juliet.

'But I was also reading articles about things that were happening now for teenage girls, so I wanted to explore mothers and daughters and how social media affects that relationship. It's a provocative look at womanhood, privilege, class and race.'

Although the girls deny all knowledge of the video, as their mothers try to figure out how to deal with the situation, Lorna is deeply concerned for Grace's welfare, while Juliet appears more laid-back and wants to keep Allegra onside.

'Juliet and Allegra both live in a world where they're on display. In their circles, they need to be perfect and they seem to have it all. But they don't feel like they do,' shares House of the Dragon star Best, 54.

Aside from dealing with the furore involving their daughters' illicit activities, Juliet and Lorna also have their own personal issues to face. Juliet makes some impetuous decisions after feeling neglected by her husband, former cricketer Raef (James Murray), and Lorna, who runs a finance company with her spouse Steven (Nathaniel Martello-White), is desperate to keep an episode from her past hidden when a mystery figure re-enters her life.

'Lorna has given her daughter luxury,' explains Ejogo, 52. 'But as with many mother-daughter relationships, there are things she is keeping from Grace. Lorna shuts down to preserve a sense of control but those truths are exposed.'

Events soon spiral out of control, however, as Allegra and Grace embark on a mission to discover whether one of their tight-knit circle of friends has spilled the beans on what they have been up to online.

But when they sneak out to a party and someone disappears, there are far-reaching repercussions across the estate. Will Juliet and Lorna be able to protect their daughters and themselves?

'There's an outside force surrounding the girls that is bigger than them and we have a police-thriller element,' teases Lecky. 'And what are the ramifications for the other families involved? Everyone has secrets…'

Mandip Gill and Robert James-Collier team up to tackle crime in the Peak District

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Cooper & Fry

Tuesday, 8pm, 5

Robert James-Collier and Mandip Gill found fame in two of Britain's best-loved series, as scheming servant Thomas Barrow in Downton Abbey and as plucky assistant Yasmin Khan in Doctor Who. Now, the pair are teaming up as TV's latest crime-fighting partnership in 5's new murder mystery Cooper & Fry.

Based on the novels by Stephen Booth, the four-part series follows two mismatched detectives – laid-back rural DC Ben Cooper and ambitious DC Diane Fry, who's transferred from Leeds under mysterious circumstances. Thrown together to probe murders in the fictional town of Edendale in the Peak District, the pair adopt very different policing methods to get results.

'When Diane arrives in Edendale, she seems cold, but she's obviously running away from something, which explains why she's so guarded,' says Gill, 37. 'She just wants to do her job, keep her head down and stay safe.'

CHALK AND CHEESE

'Ben is the antithesis of Diane,' adds James-Collier, 49. 'His dad was a respected police officer, while he's a bit of a maverick who takes stupid risks that result in him needing someone – usually Diane – to save him.'

In this week's first case, the pair dig into the murky history of Tanglewood Farm after a body is unearthed during renovations, before a second body – a headless torso – is uncovered. As Ben fills Diane in on local folklore relating to a severed head known as 'Screaming Billy', disturbing truths emerge.

'We don't often see modern policing mixed with the occult on TV,' says Gill. 'I think that's what makes this show different from other procedural dramas.'

With Ben and Diane battling their own personal demons, can they help each other heal old wounds?

'We learn that, five years ago, Ben's dad was brutally murdered. Ben feels like he's failed his dad by not being able to solve the crime and has been carrying that burden ever since,' says James-Collier. 'He's almost given up trying to solve his dad's murder, but Diane picks up the mantle and forges ahead in the quest to catch his killer.

'Cooper & Fry is the classic odd-couple story. Their clashing techniques soon weave together to make them a formidable duo. I think I'd be a good detective in real life because I'm good at reading people and their body language. But I've got a bad hip, so there'd be no chasing bad guys or Starsky & Hutch-style sliding over car bonnets!'

The arrival of little Sadie brings changes for Malcolm and Gemma

NEW COMEDY

Daddy Issues

Friday, 9.35pm, BBC1 & BBC3 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

The first series of BBC comedy Daddy Issues saw spirited Gemma turn to her endearingly useless dad Malcolm for support when she unexpectedly became pregnant.

Now, in the new run, Gemma (Aimee Lou Wood) has welcomed baby Sadie into the world and is adjusting to motherhood, while Malcolm (David Morrissey) receives some blasts from the past.

In an exclusive interview, Wood, 31, and Morrissey, 61, tell us more…

Where do we pick things up?

Wood Gemma loves being a mum, but she's tired and living with her own scary mother, Davina [Jill Halfpenny, who has taken over the role from Susan Lynch]. She misses her dad.

Morrissey Malcolm's terrified of his ex, Davina, so he's living with Derek [David Fynn]. He wants to be back in Gemma's life. She needs someone she can rely on, and although Malcolm isn't brilliant, he tries.

Is he a good grandad?

Morrissey He got it wrong with his daughters, especially as Catherine [Sharon Rooney] is in prison, so he's trying to make amends with his granddaughter. It's added a wonderful dynamic for Malcolm having this responsibility.

Wood He's a lovely grandad! And seeing David with the babies who play Sadie is cute because he's so tall and they're so small. He's great with them!

Sadie and Gemma

We also get to meet Malcolm's dad, Jackie (Philip Jackson). What's he like?

Morrissey Jackie's a macho wheeler-dealer who views Malcolm as a disappointment. We see the damage inflicted on Malcolm. Off-screen, Philip's a good friend – we worked together on Sherwood – so he enjoyed being horrible to me!

Wood Yes, Jackie's a terrible dad to Malcolm, but he showers Gemma with love. Daddy Issues is a comedy but it's also heartbreaking.

Where did you film this series?

Wood We filmed in Rhyl. Gemma needs a break, but it's more stressful than if she stayed at home.

Morrissey Rhyl brought back childhood memories because I used to go there with my parents. We also filmed in the Peak District. Malcolm does some kayaking and trekking, and it's a disaster!

Do you enjoy working together?

Morrissey I'm proud of Aimee and all that she's gone on to do.

Wood David makes me laugh. We make him do his 'brooding drama face' or his Elvis Presley impersonation in between takes. We sing together, too – so we want to do a musical episode one day.

NEW DRAMA

Summerwater

Sunday-Tuesday, 9pm, C4 (box set, Channel 4 Streaming)

Beginning with three episodes this week, atmospheric six-part drama Summerwater follows a diverse group of holidaymakers who all have something to hide at a rain-drenched loch-side retreat.

As storm clouds gather, it's not long until simmering disagreements between the different tourists escalate into a devastating and deadly climax.

AIMEE LOU WOOD

David Morrissey and Aimee Lou Wood as Malcolm and Gemma

The opening episode introduces us to Justine (Valene Kane), who is slowly drifting away from her husband, Steve (Daniel Rigby), while consumed by a workplace vendetta. After losing out on a job she'd been promised, Justine has been waging a sinister campaign of revenge against her unsuspecting rival.

'She's a deeply tired individual,' says Kane, 38. 'She's not psychotic, she's just someone who's deeply frustrated by her marriage, her career and her life in general.'

Meanwhile, fellow visitor David (Dougray Scott) is dealing with his own issues as dementia slowly begins to take a grip on his wife, Annie (Shirley Henderson).

'I read the book [by Sarah Moss] and it was wonderful,' says Scott. 'This adaptation has done a magnificent job of solidifying all those beautiful character studies into an exciting and unpredictable story.'

As tensions rise, David is infuriated to be confronted by Millie (Shereen Cutkelvin), who's on holiday with her boyfriend Josh (Anders Hayward), after she witnesses him shouting at Annie. Adding to David's woes is another, noisy group of guests, led by Alina (Anna Próchniak), who have loud parties long into the night.

'David is quite narcissistic,' adds Scott, 59. 'He has a sense of superiority and he's full of anger. But what surprises him is how much he loves his wife. When you're faced with an existential threat, you really discover who you are.'

Winter is coming!

Kit Harington joins Mark Wahlberg's madcap Morgan family for a Christmas-set sequel in London and Paris

Nina, Max, Dan, Jessica and Kyle embark on a new adventure

tv The Family Plan 2

NEW Available: Friday 21 November
Genre: Action comedy

The much-loved Morgan family is heading across the pond for a follow-up to their 2023 caper The Family Plan, with Game of Thrones' Kit Harington joining the cast as a gun-toting ghost from the past.

Retired government assassin and dad of three Dan (Mark Wahlberg) plans a festive trip for all the family to visit daughter Nina (Zoe Colletti) in London, where she's studying. But Nina's new boyfriend, Omar (Reda Elazouar), isn't the only surprise awaiting them – the mysterious Finn (Kit Harington) turns up and he is harbouring a dangerous grudge against Dan.

Car chases, heists and family squabbles ensue as the gang – including Dan's wife, Jessica (Michelle Monaghan), and sons Kyle (Van Crosby) and Max (Peter and Theodore Lindsay) – also head to Paris on a high-stakes mission.

Here, Harington, 38, chats exclusively to TV&Satellite Week about what to expect…

What drew you into the Morgan family's mayhem? I loved the first film, plus the chance to play a villainous character opposite a bona fide action star like Mark Wahlberg felt like something new for me. I am a big fan of Mark; he's iconic. It's also an unashamedly fun family film, and I've got kids now, so we can watch it together.

What can you tell us about Finn? He's a lovable villain who just wants what he's owed. He's a tough guy with a massive chip on his shoulder, but also a bit cheeky, which was really fun to play. After Game of Thrones, I want to move away from those more heroic roles.

You shot major action sequences in both London and Paris... Yes, we shut down the centre of London for a big fight scene on an open-top bus, which we filmed for real. Mark and I did all our own fighting. Also, shooting in Paris was a great excuse for a romantic trip away with my wife [Thrones co-star Rose Leslie].

How did it compare to your sword-wielding scenes in Game of Thrones? Well, I'm older now, and I kept thinking, 'This didn't used to hurt!' There are intense action scenes, and we barely used green screen or stunt doubles. It felt like we were making a classic action movie.

Will you be watching it with your family? My kids are four and two, so I don't think they'll sit and watch it for more than 10 minutes! But watching 'Daddy's movie' could become a family tradition. I've had a busy year – Industry Season 4 is about to come out, and a horror film, The Dreadful, which I made with [Thrones co-star] Sophie Turner, is coming out, too, so I'm looking forward to Christmas and being properly at home.

A group of outcasts try to save the world in a fantasy animation

prime The Mighty Nein

NEW Available: Wednesday 19 November
Genre: Animation Season: 1 Episodes: 8

When a powerful ancient relic known as The Beacon ends up in the wrong hands, an unlikely gathering of fugitives and outsiders must unite to stop the total disintegration of their kingdom in Prime Video's new series The Mighty Nein.

The brainchild of the team behind animated series The Legend of Vox Machina, The Mighty Nein is set 20 years after the events of that show, and is deliberately darker and grittier.

TOUGH STUFF

'From the start, we set a harsher tone,' says executive producer Travis Willingham, who also voices the character of magically gifted sailor Fjord. 'The opening five minutes don't even feature the main cast – instead, the sky shatters, and people murder their spouses. It makes you ask, "What is happening in this world?"'

The show's characters are all battling their own demons: Beau (Marisha Ray) is a Cobalt Soul monk who's secretly fighting to unearth corruption within her own organisation, while wizard Caleb (Liam O'Brien) is hiding from his past, and goblin Nott (Sam Riegel) is stealthy and skilled but also a foul-mouthed alcoholic.

Beau, Nott and tarot reader Molly

SHADES OF GREY

'The real distinction is in the characters' journeys,' says Riegel. 'Vox Machina become celebrated heroes by the end, but the Mighty Nein never do. They may save the world, but no one will ever know it. The war they're caught in doesn't have a clear good or evil side, and they make bad choices along the way.'

'It's a shared world and similar lore,' adds Matthew Mercer, who voices wizard Essek Thelyss. 'But it is very much a different vibe. The realms and the stakes are a lot darker and more mysterious. There's more political intrigue involved.

'They are all strangers that are, by circumstance and fate, forced together. And part of the journey is watching them see if they even can function as friends or a family among many other things that are happening in the world around them that they get tangled with.'

A fishing trip turns deadly in a true-crime documentary

NETFLIX The Carman Family Deaths

NEW Available: Wednesday 19 November
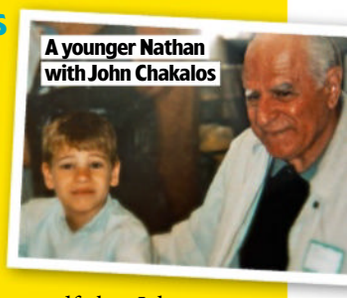
Genre: Documentary

In September 2016, wealthy young American Nathan Carman and his mother Linda set off on Nathan's fishing boat for a night-time trip to catch tuna off the coast of New England – an outing that ended in tragedy when friends reported that the vessel had not returned the next day.

After a week of searching by the US Coast Guard, 22-year-old Nathan was found aboard a life raft by a passing cargo ship. Tragically, Linda was missing – and was later presumed dead in the icy waters of the Atlantic.

MURKY DEALINGS



A younger Nathan with John Chakalos

Nathan claimed that the boat sank after suddenly taking on water, but as officials investigated, they became suspicious of his account. As they dug deeper, they also linked Nathan to the unsolved murder of his grandfather, John Chakalos, a real-estate developer who was shot dead in his home three years earlier.

As Netflix's one-off documentary The Carman Family Deaths reveals, Nathan was the last person to see Chakalos alive and once owned a similar assault rifle to the one used in the murder. However, at the time detectives felt they did not have enough to charge him.

Did Nathan kill his grandfather and then his mother so he could inherit millions? By 2022, police felt they had a watertight case and charged Nathan with his mother's murder. But as he awaited trial, the case took another shocking turn...

Ted Danson and his wife Mary Steenburgen have a campus romance as his sleuthing comedy returns

NETFLIX A Man on the Inside

NEW Available: Thursday 20 November
Genre: Comedy Season: 2 Episodes: 8

Bored, lonely widower Charles Nieuwendyk (Ted Danson) got a new lease of life, and a chance to process his grief, when he landed a one-off job as an undercover private investigator looking into a theft at a retirement home in Season 1 of US comedy A Man on the Inside.

As the hit show returns for a second run, Charles has carried on working for Julie (Lilah Richcreek Estrada) at San Francisco-based Kovalenko Investigations, but he craves something more exciting than the succession of cheating husbands he's been assigned to tail.

And just such an opportunity arises when a laptop is stolen from a college campus, potentially threatening a donation from billionaire alumnus Brad Vinick (Gary Cole). As an ex-professor, Charles is perfectly suited to go undercover as a visiting academic to try to unearth the culprit, who is thought to be a member of the college staff.

MAGICAL MATCH

Attending a party to honour Brad, the rookie sleuth gets more than he bargains for when he meets eccentric music professor Mona Margadoff, played by Danson's wife Mary Steenburgen, and the two hit it off straight away, sharing a kiss in the first episode.

Off-screen, the pair have been wed for 30 years.

'It's just magical,' says Danson, whose many TV credits include Cheers, Fargo and Curb Your Enthusiasm. 'The story evolves, but my character is in love with her, and to sit there on camera and just look into her eyes is pretty astounding.'

Danson, 77, admits that the couple are 'nauseatingly in love' in real life and make a big effort to keep their romance alive.

'Each morning, we tell each other how much we love each other and how blessed we are, and we play the New York Times games Wordle, Connections and Spelling Bee,' he reveals. 'If I get to have that moment with her, I'm set up for the rest of the day.'

TV legend Henry Winkler delves into history's most toxic products...

NEW FACTUAL

Hazardous History with Henry Winkler

Monday, 10pm, Sky History & HISTORY Play

From children's science kits with radioactive components to theme parks with life-threatening rides, TV legend Henry Winkler returns to our screens this week to look at perilous products and pastimes from bygone years in the eight-part series Hazardous History on Sky History and HISTORY Play.

We met Winkler, best known as super-cool biker Arthur 'The Fonz' Fonzarelli in the 1950s-set sitcom Happy Days, to hear more...

What can you tell us about some of the hazardous products featured? The first episode is all about dangerous toys. One of them is the Atomic Energy Lab from 1950 – children could use it to create their own mini version of an atomic cloud. It contained radioactive chemicals and uranium. Unbelievably, it was sold for a year before it was taken off the market.

Do you remember playing with any of those toys as a child? I had the Super Elastic Bubble Plastic. You used a straw to blow bubbles that didn't burst, but it contained toxic materials. Kids were breathing it in. I remember even using it as chewing gum.

Theme parks also come under the spotlight, don't they? There was a notorious water park in New Jersey called Action Park. It had a slide where you could do a loop-the-loop. Unfortunately, they never figured out the science when designing it. Kids were either getting stuck in the tube or their teeth were getting knocked out from the force of it.

You recently turned 80. How does that feel? I'm just grateful that I'm alive and still at the table enjoying my life.

And the sitcom Happy Days celebrated its 51st anniversary this year... I'm so proud I was part of that family. I'm flying to Texas soon to meet up with Anson Williams [AKA Potsie Weber], Don Most [Ralph Malph] and Garry Marshall, who created it. Ron Howard, who played Richie Cunningham, is busy directing a movie; otherwise he'd be there, too. It's delightful spending time with them all.

Do fans still ask about The Fonz? Absolutely. I get men coming over to me in leathers, almost in tears, saying, 'You're the reason I ride a motorcycle.' I have to tell them I actually never rode one in my life. I was always towed in on Happy Days after crashing the bike on my first day of filming!

Kingdom

Sunday, 6.25pm, BBC1

This week, there are more dramas in Zambia, as wild dog Storm gives birth to a second litter of pups, only for her den to collapse, leaving all nine trapped underground. Elsewhere, one of hyena Tandala's pack is killed following a skirmish with a lion over prey, and leopard Olimba successfully raises her surviving cub to independence.

Men of the Manosphere

Monday, 10pm, BBC3

James Blake (above) reports on the online world of masculinity, AKA the manosphere, where young men have turned to controversial male influencers like Andrew Tate for guidance and instruction as they seek to better themselves. He meets three young men to hear their reasons for going online, and examines the harm it can bring.

Christmas Cruising with Susan Calman

Friday, 8pm, 5

For her latest travelogue, the comedian takes a festive trip along Germany's Main and Rhine rivers, visiting a Christmas village in Nuremberg, the fairy tale town of Rothenburg and medieval Miltenberg, where she showcases her skills on the church organ, before heading to Cologne to visit three seasonal markets.

How a con man dragged Sven-Göran Eriksson into a fraudulent football takeover

Sven-Göran Eriksson

NEW FACTUAL

King of Lies: Football's Greatest Con

Sunday, 8pm, Sky Documentaries

In the early 2000s, Notts County, the world's oldest pro football club, was facing an uncertain future as its financial difficulties saw it placed into administration. But then, just as fans were praying for a miracle, a mysterious consortium supposedly backed by the Bahraini royal family stepped in to buy the club.

And at a time when foreign investment into football clubs was becoming commonplace, it looked as though this would be the answer to those prayers.

'They said they wanted to buy a football club from the lower divisions and take it all the way to the Premier League, and they were being backed by mega money,' recalls Peter Trembling, who was installed as the club's chairman.

CHAIN OF EVENTS

The excitement around the League Two club reached fever pitch when former England manager Sven-Göran Eriksson was brought in as director of football, alongside impressive signings such as promising young goalkeeper Kasper Schmeichel and former Arsenal defender Sol Campbell.

'It looked too good to be true,' Eriksson later recalled, before his death in 2024. 'They offered me more or less a football club. It was the dream.'

However, the dream was soon shattered when it emerged that the takeover had been led by convicted fraudster Russell King, who had shady links to the UK investment bank First London.

Peter Trembling

DECEPTION

The big money promised to Notts County never materialised, with King using Eriksson's credibility to help him negotiate a deal worth trillions of pounds with North Korea to mine the country's minerals.

'King had the ability to take and destroy with so much sophistication and patience,' says journalist Matt Scott, who investigated the story, and who features in this week's documentary, King of Lies: Football's Greatest Con.

Ultimately, Notts County was left £7m in debt while King was sentenced to six years in prison for fraud.

'I still think the project, if it had been true, was fantastic,' said Eriksson. 'But it was the worst thing I ever did.'

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

Joel Edgerton wonders at the beauty of nature, as the hand of man takes its toll

PERIOD DRAMA

From Friday, Netflix ★★★★

Set in the north American forests of the early 20th century, this beautifully shot, patient period drama recounts the poignant story of itinerant logger Robert Grainier (Joel Edgerton), whose solitary existence is transformed when he meets and marries Gladys (Felicity Jones) and becomes a father. Robert's employment takes him far from the family's idyllic riverside log cabin for long periods and, after a shocking incident, he becomes convinced something bad will happen to him, and his worst fears and premonitions – including the 'train dreams' of the title – are realised when tragedy strikes.

All the while, the beautiful landscape around him is being transformed by the relentless logging, unstoppable advance of the railroad, and rapidly evolving 20th-century technology by which Robert's own life will continue to remain largely untouched. Edgerton is quietly convincing as the taciturn, stoic Robert, while an impressive supporting cast includes William H Macy as a garrulous dynamite specialist and Kerry Condon as a forestry worker who connects with Robert over their mutual losses.

This brooding Thomas Hardy-esque tragedy includes a powerful message about the dangers of disrupting the natural world, and the interconnectedness of everything in it, including ourselves. 2025, 12, 102MIN

Adulthood

From Monday, buy or rent from digital stores including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★

A pair of fractious adult siblings slide ever deeper into trouble when they try to cover up a 30-year-old murder in this biting black comedy starring Josh Gad and Kaya Scodelario. Reunited after their mother has a stroke, slobbish failed screenwriter Noah (Gad) and harried suburban mum Meg (Scodelario) are horrified when they discover a dead body buried in the basement of their childhood home, but their efforts to conceal this literal family skeleton quickly get out of control. After a strong start, Adulthood doesn't entirely fulfil the promise of its warped premise, but Gad and Scodelario are terrific and if the plot goes a little off the rails towards the end there is plenty of dark Coen-esque fun along the way. 2025, 15, 97MIN

Friday, 12.40pm & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

Widowed mum Meghann Fahy leaves her sister (Violet Beane) and young son at home for her first date in years, but when she arrives at the posh restaurant with-a-view where she's meeting Henry (Brandon Sklenar) she starts receiving strange messages on her mobile. Then her home security cameras reveal there's a masked gunman in her house and she must do exactly what the messages say – without telling anyone – or her son will die. The twist is, the messages are coming from someone inside the restaurant... Director Christopher Landon's clever thriller stokes up the suspense to brilliant effect and Fahy is excellent as she realises that her enemy can see and hear every move she makes. Hedda

Available now, Prime Video ★★★★

Lush, sleek and sexy, this fabulous take on Henrik Ibsen's 1890 play by writer-director Nia DaCosta warps and shapes the drama into a brand new, fascinating beast. At its heart is Tessa Thompson's Hedda Gabler, one of the great anti-heroines, here treated to a complexity above just her devious machinations.

Relocating the setting to 1950s England, we witness Hedda and her dull husband George (Tom Bateman) about to host an enormous party at their equally enormous house – all to curry favour with the right people in order to land George the academic job he needs. All goes well until his rival for the position (and Hedda's secret ex-lover), Eileen (Nina Hoss), turns up, as does her companion, Thea (Imogen Poots). But Hedda will stop at nothing for her husband to succeed...

The American Thompson delivers a perfect, cut-glass English accent, as well as highlighting her considerable acting ability, matched by the equally superb Hoss. And some may balk at DaCosta's reimagining of the finale, but her fresh re-contextualising take on Ibsen is rich, vibrant and satisfying. 2025, 15, 107MIN

Can Ben Stokes' England make history Down Under?

The Ashes

LIVE CRICKET

From Thursday, play starts 2.30am, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+

One of sport's greatest rivalries resumes when England's cricketers take on Australia in the most-anticipated Ashes series for years as the first Test begins in Perth in the early hours of Friday morning.

TNT Sports and Discovery+ will be showing every Test live throughout the night as captain Ben Stokes' side seeks to regain the famous urn after the Aussies retained the Ashes in England in the summer of 2023.

The first match will be played at Perth's Optus Stadium, which opened in 2017. It's the first time the state-of-the art venue has staged an Ashes Test, with all 13 previous meetings between the sides held at the city's WACA ground.

The second Test at the Gabba in Brisbane will be a day-night match, using a pink ball – the first Ashes Test played under floodlights at the ground – while the fourth Test is the traditional Boxing Day encounter at Melbourne Cricket Ground, with its intimidating 100,000 capacity.

History is hardly on the tourists' side. England last won an Ashes series Down Under in 2010-11 when Andrew Strauss led a side including Kevin Pietersen and Sir Alastair Cook to a 3-1 success. Since then, Australia have not lost a single Ashes match on home soil, winning the last three series 5-0, 4-0 and 4-0.

THE TEAMS

England's 16-player squad features opening batters Ben Duckett and Zak Crawley, plus spinner Shoaib Bashir and pace bowler Jofra Archer, playing his first Ashes on Australian soil. If the visitors are to claim victory, Joe Root's contribution could also be vital. Dubbed 'Mr Reliable', the 34-year-old is England's all-time highest run-scorer, but has yet to make a century in 14 Tests in Australia. Will he make his first ton on what could be his last tour Down Under?

Meanwhile, Australia captain Pat Cummins has been ruled out of the first Test with a back injury, with Steve Smith leading the side in his absence. The influential fast bowler is set to return in Brisbane, leading a strong line-up expected to include batters Usman Khawaja and Travis Head, along with formidable pace bowlers Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood.

Let battle commence…

Autumn Nations Series

Saturday & Sunday, TNT Sports, S4C & Discovery+

Having started the November Tests with a convincing win over Australia, including a man-of-the-match performance from Ben Earl, Steve Borthwick's England take on New Zealand at Twickenham on Saturday (kick-off 3.10pm), before Wales host Japan at the Principality Stadium (5.40pm) and Ireland welcome Australia to Dublin (8.10pm). On Sunday, Scotland play Argentina at Murrayfield (3.10pm), having notched up their record win at the stadium in their 85-0 demolition of the USA as Duhan van der Merwe scored two tries on his 50th appearance.

The A-League Women match from Home of the Matildas, Melbourne.

LIVE Manchester City v Manchester United
1pm BBC1 (kick-off 1.30pm)
The Women's Super League match staged at Etihad Stadium. These teams finished fourth and third respectively in the league last term, and they have both made strong starts to the current campaign as they look to challenge champions Chelsea for the title.

LIVE League One match
2.50pm Sky Sports+ (kick-off 3pm)

LIVE Liechtenstein v Wales
4.45pm BBC2 (kick-off 5pm)
Both teams' penultimate World Cup Group J qualifier held at Rheinpark Stadion in Vaduz. Wales claimed a 3-0 win in the reverse fixture at Cardiff City Stadium thanks to strikes by Joe Rodon, Harry Wilson and Kieffer Moore, and they will be expecting to keep their hopes of reaching at least the play-offs alive by recording another victory. See p29.

LIVE Albania v England
4pm ITV1 (kick-off 5pm)
Both teams' final World Cup Group K match held at Arena Kombëtare in Tirana. England opened their campaign with a 2-0 win when the teams met at Wembley in March, with Myles Lewis-Skelly and Harry Kane the scorers. Thomas Tuchel's men went on to secure qualification with two games to spare, meaning the pressure is off for them this evening, while Albania are battling with Serbia for second place in the group and a play-off spot. See p29.

LIVE Hibernian v Hearts
4pm BBC Alba (kick-off 4.10pm)
The Edinburgh derby in the SWPL staged at Easter Road Stadium.

LIVE NWSL second semi-final

LIVE Northern Ireland v Luxembourg
7.30pm BBC2 (N Ireland only) & BBC3 (kick-off 7.45pm)
Both teams' final World Cup Group A qualifier held at Windsor Park. Goals by James Reid, Shea Charles and Justin Devenny gave Northern Ireland a 3-1 victory when the sides met at Stade de Luxembourg in the opening round of fixtures, and they will expect another win on home territory against a nation that lost their first four matches in the group.

Tuesday 18

LIVE Scotland v Denmark
7.15pm BBC Scotland & 7.30pm BBC2 (not Wales) (kick-off 7.45pm)
Both teams' concluding World Cup Group C qualifier at Hampden Park. Both these teams secured their place in the top two with two games to spare, but this contest will determine who takes automatic qualification for next year's finals. September's reverse fixture ended in a goalless draw, but a more open game is anticipated this time around with whichever team starting the match in second place incentivised to go for the win.

LIVE Wales v North Macedonia
7.20pm S4C, 7.30pm BBC1 (Wales only) & BBC3 (kick-off 7.45pm)
The World Cup Group J qualifier at Cardiff City Stadium. There was late drama when the teams met in Skopje in March, with Bojan Miovski giving the Macedonians the lead in the first minute of second-half stoppage time before David Brooks made it 1-1 five minutes later. Another closely fought contest is expected this evening, with both teams battling it out for at least a place in the play-offs.

The Women's Champions League matchday four league phase fixture.

LIVE Chelsea v Barcelona
7.30pm BBC2 & 8pm Disney+ (kick-off 8pm)
The Women's Champions League fourth league phase match at Stamford Bridge, as two of the favourites to win the competition battle it out. These teams met in the semi-finals of last season's competition, with Barça claiming an emphatic 8-2 aggregate victory after 4-1 wins home and away.

LIVE Peterborough United v Stockport County
7.30pm Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports Football (kick-off 8pm)
Coverage of the League One match at London Road. The hosts have been struggling at the wrong end of the table having only picked up their first point in the fifth game of the season, whereas The Hatters have been sitting at the top end of the division, and hit the top spot after four consecutive wins in October.

LIVE OH Leuven v Roma
8pm Disney+ (kick-off 8pm)

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

NETFLIX In Your Dreams

NEW

Available from Fri 14 Nov, Netflix

This beautifully animated film follows the adventures of Stevie and her younger brother Elliot as the pair venture into the wonderfully fantastical landscape of their own imaginations to find the Sandman, to ask if he can grant them their wish of a perfect family.

The comedy is packed full of light-hearted, if absurd, moments – Stevie and Elliot are in each other's dreams, after all! But along the way, the siblings realise they can face anything together, even their worst nightmares.

itvX Byker Grove

Available to stream from Sunday, ITVX

While Ant and Dec have their hands full with celebrities, creepy crawlies and other yukky things in the jungle, we can reminisce about a simpler, less messy time – when the pair were more well known as PJ (Ant) and Duncan (Dec) in this trailblazing teen drama.

Launched in 1989 and running until 2006, the series was known for covering challenging social issues such as drug addiction and homophobia.

All 18 series are available to stream from Sunday.

More great shows to watch this week...

Bros in Control

NEW

Weekdays, 5.45pm, CBBC & BBC iPlayer

Best mates Adam Beales and Joe Tasker are back for more funny, gungy and gross games, created by Adam's little brother, Callum.

Gabby's Dollhouse

From Monday, Netflix

With the live-action adaptation currently in cinemas, brand new episodes of the animated series drop on Monday. Gabby's adventures kick off with a visit to the Emerald Kitty City to meet the Wizard of Meow!

Jurassic World: Chaos Theory

NEW

Available on Thu, Netflix

In what has been confirmed to be the final season, the group works together to stop Biosyn's plans to weaponise the dinosaurs.

Small Prophets

Pearce Quigley stars in Mackenzie Crook's colourful comic fantasy

Quirky forthcoming comedy

Small Prophets, written and directed by Mackenzie Crook, centres on a man who gets more than he bargained for as he delves into a magical world.

Set in Manchester, the six-parter, airing on BBC2 early next year, follows the fortunes of offbeat DIY-store worker Michael Sleep (Pearce Quigley), whose partner Clea vanished seven years ago. In a bid to find out if she will ever return, he uses a bizarre recipe given to him by his dad Brian (Sir Michael Palin) to try to conjure up magical prophesying spirits, known as Homunculi. But will they help him?

Show creator Mackenzie Crook

TOP-NOTCH CAST

The series, which features vibrant animation, sees Crook co-star as Michael's annoying store manager Gordon, while Lauren Patel plays Kacey, a young colleague with whom Michael forges a friendship. Sophie Willan and Jon Pointing are his inquisitive neighbours, and Paul Kaye is Clea's brother Roy, who wants to reclaim the family home.

'Like all my best ideas, this one has been percolating for nearly a decade and is finally ready to see the light of day,' says Crook. 'It's wonderful to be working again with my friends and [producer] Gill Isles and Pearce Quigley and to realise a long-term ambition of collaborating with animators Ainslie Henderson and Will Anderson.'

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Steve Backshall

ITV1's documentary Steve Backshall's Royal Arctic Challenge, airing this Christmas, will follow him as he re-creates King Charles' 1975 Canadian Arctic trip, and talks to the monarch about climate change.

Celia Imrie

The actor is reuniting with her The Celebrity Traitors co-star Nick Mohammed for Sky's legal thriller War, which explores a split between a tech boss and a film star played by Dominic West and Sienna Miller.

Kevin McCloud

In C4's six-part travelogue Kevin McCloud: Scenic Drives in Stunning Cars, the presenter will discover more about classic vehicles as he embarks on road trips through their countries of origin.

Coming Back

Greg Davies and Alex Horne will oversee a Champion of Champions special of C4's Taskmaster this festive season, with returning stars including Mathew Baynton, while a fresh set of famous faces compete in a New Year Treat.

Next week — On sale Tuesday 18 November

Doc

In the second run of Sky Witness' drama, Amy (Molly Parker) is still trying to regain her memory.

A Simple Statement of Faith

The Fish & Cross Pendant

Beautifully symbolising belief, hope and spiritual identity

ONLY £29.99 +p&p
SAVE £10 when you buy 2 or more

A beautiful two-tone pendant with dazzling crystal accent resting on a 46cm long golden chain with 5cm extender clasp

The Perfect GIFT OF FAITH

The fish symbol, known as Ichthus, was one of the earliest signs of Christianity, often carved quietly by believers in ancient times. Combined with the cross - the eternal emblem of redemption - it creates a powerful reminder of our faith's foundation.

In Greek, "ΙΧΘΥΣ" stands for "Jesus Christ, God's Son, Savior." This simple yet profound symbol has endured through centuries as a declaration of belief, hope, and spiritual identity.

In some cultures, the combined fish and cross also symbolizes good luck and new beginnings, making it especially meaningful as a gift - for baptisms, anniversaries, or even life's quieter milestones. Crafted with care and designed for everyday wear, this beautiful two-tone pendant with dazzling crystal accent sits on the 46cm long chain and comes with a 5cm extender clasp.
Presented in a presentation box.

The Fish & Cross Pendant Presented in a presentation box

Who should wear it?

Anyone entering a new chapter, celebrating a sacred journey, or cherishing their walk in faith. For generations, women have worn fish jewellery for blessings, fertility, and protection - a gentle way to carry both beauty and belief close to the heart.

Whether you wear it for yourself or pass it on as a gift of faith to children or grandchildren, it's a meaningful keepsake that speaks across generations.
